

ONLINE TRAINING WITH NEOGOV

The Fund offers online safety training courses which members' employees can access from a personal computer, tablet, or phone. Topics include general safety training courses, driver training, and human resource courses. Users can track their own progress through these interactive courses as well as print certificates of completion once they have passed a simple test.

Online training is intended to supplement the other courses offered such as leadership training, safety officer training, defensive driving, etc.

You can view the list of available Online Courses here: Course Catalog

How it Works

To request login credentials, please email Office@TWCARMF.org.

Each user will need to request login credentials. Employees can then enroll in individual courses and receive a Certificate of Course Completion after passing a short quiz.
